Zac Brown Band, the multi-platinum, Grammy Award-winning Southern rock group, will lead the charge as the festival's headline act, bringing their signature sound to the stage in the heart of Queensland's Tropical North.

The band, known for their world class live performances, has sold more than 30.5 million singles, 9.3 million albums, and amassed over 11.2 billion catalogue streams worldwide. With a career spanning over a decade and a reputation as one of the most dynamic live performers in music, Zac Brown Band will light up the Savannah in the Round stage in October 2025. Their extensive accolades include three Grammy Awards, 16 #1 radio singles, and the record for the most consecutive sold-out shows at Fenway Park, making them a must-see act for festival-goers.

Joining Zac Brown Band as a U.S. headliner is Maryland-born country star Jackson Dean, whose powerful voice and country-rock infusion has captivated audiences globally. His debut single, "Don't Come Lookin'," reached number one on the country radio charts, has over 150 million streams, and was added to the infamous Yellowstone show soundtrack.

Dean's breakthrough earned him recognition at major festivals like Stagecoach and CMA Fest. Signed to Big Machine Records, he released his critically-acclaimed debut album Greenbroke in 2022 and followed it with On the Back of My Dreams in 2024. With over 1.2 million monthly Spotify listeners, Dean has also earned multiple industry accolades, solidifying his place in country music.

Known for his emotionally charged performances and raw storytelling, Dean is quickly becoming one of country music's most exciting talents. His inclusion in the Savannah in the Round lineup promises to bring a thrilling, high-energy performance to the festival, making him a fan favorite of 2025.

Festival director James Dein shared his excitement, saying, "We are beyond thrilled to announce Zac Brown Band and Jackson Dean as our U.S. headliners for Savannah in the Round 2025."
